All animals are unpredictable, including horses. Therefore riding is a RISK SPORT and may cause injury and damage to the rider. When you ride a horse you make a voluntary choice to do so. When you choose to ride, you volunteer to take the associated risks which may cause you injury. Because riding is a risk sport, no responsibility for injury can be taken by the stables.

I have carefully read the above. I am volunteering to take the risks associated with horse riding and Pony-trekking. I also understand that if I sustain injury, the centre is not responsible for the risk I take or injury I may cause myself as a result of my decision to horse ride.
